

During all the years we've lived, there has been evil. We have praised God and prayed for those upon whom the evil has been visited. It has always been so.

We learn of wars, conquering, invasions, mass tragedies, all manner of human calamity, all through the ages. And those who know God pray for those upon whom calamity comes.

In Connecticut, it's now our turn. Calamity is here. God has not changed merely because the calamity visited our back yard.

Our hearts, our prayers, our love, and our resources if and when needed, are there for all of these families and children.

If we have any words in this moment, let us direct them to the God of all things; for He alone knows. In this life, there are some things that have no answers.

Be there for your family. Be there for your friends.

Love... Pastor
